

Bryan Kennedy

Bryan Kennedy is an analyst by training with a passion for helping pioneering organizations attract and secure the highly specialized talent required to drive innovation in Cell and Gene Therapy. Bryan uses his systematic research approach to provide unmatched market intelligence that enables our organization to have a deep understanding of this new era of Medicine. Berke Executive Search leverages the research to optimize and enhance their proven process of securing top industry talent.

Before joining Berke, Bryan was a Head of Research at The Discovery Labs, where he oversaw all research efforts for the rapidly growing Cell and Gene Therapy CDMO. In his time with The Discovery Labs, Bryan developed a deep and profound understanding of the CGT sector, including therapeutic developers, supporting services (CRO and CDMO), and the challenges and gaps of this young industry faces, especially around talent.

Bryan is an avid reader of industry publications, a frequent attendee of the industry and investment banking conferences (in-person and virtual), and is well networked in CGT. His approach to each client engagement is unique and market-driven.
